THE CONCLAVE

The transitioning world order brings with it a trove of opportunities for the betterment of humanity. Actions that are taken today will shape the world for centuries to come, therefore leaders must make responsible decisions. To discuss and deliberate on the issues of the present world order and the potential of the new one, Jyot (a not-for-profit and an apolitical NGO) organised two conclaves titled 'Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam ki Oar' in 2022 and 2023.

These conclaves play a vital role in promoting special education, on the idea of Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam (the world is one family), thus preserving and propagating the rich heritage and values of Indian culture.

Coming to 2024, the year marked a unique convergence of three landmark milestones in India's constitutional history. India was in the 75th year of its Constitution, which is said to establish its sovereignty as an independent republic. It marked the 51st year of the Basic Structure Doctrine, laid down in the historic Kesavananda Bharati case, a principle that delineated the scope of the State's power to amend its foundational principles. Additionally, this year marked the 30th anniversary of the S. R. Bommai judgement, which recognised secularism as a key element of the Basic Structure of the Constitution. Each of these milestones represents a vast field of jurisprudence.

Additionally, the year marked the 2550th year after the Nirvana of Tirthankar Shri Mahavir Swami, signifying a profound convergence of constitutional and spiritual milestones.

VASUDHAIVA KUTUMBAKAM KI OAR 3.0

Considering the significance of this unique convergence, the conclave returned with 'legal' and 'geopolitical' themes in its 'third edition' this year.

The inaugural legal theme focussed on 'Sovereignty, Basic Structure Doctrine and Secularism', while the geopolitical theme addressed 'Global Trust, Multipolarity and the Role of Vishwabandhu Bharat'.

Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam ki Oar 3.0 witnessed a nuanced gathering of legal luminaries, geopolitical scholars and thought leaders under the aegis of the 79th successor of Tirthankar Shri Mahavir Swami, His Holiness Shri Yugbhushansuriji.

The conclave was organised by Jyot in association with a host of partners, at Gitarth Ganga, Ahmedabad on 14th and 15th December, 2024.

THE GITARTH GANGA DECLARATION

At the end of both the open sessions, a joint declaration, titled the Gitarth Ganga Declaration, was signed by all the partner organisations, affirming their commitment to further mutual collaboration and actualise the conclave objectives. The declaration included separate goals for both the themes.

The legal goals demanded the rejection of the Westphalian nation-state model of absolute internal authority and confinement of external authority and promotion of international jurisprudence leveraging ancient wisdom, rooted in the principles of Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam.

The political goals were determined to restore global trust with Bharat taking the lead as a Vishwabandhu, an integral part of Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam.

VASUDHAIVA KUTUMBAKAM KI OAR - 3.0

GITARTH GANGA DECLARATION

14TH - 15TH DECEMBER, 2024

Under the guidance of Spiritual Sovereign His Holiness Jainacharya Yugbhushansuriji, Jyot, and with the collaboration of Vivekananda International Foundation (VIF), India Foundation (IF), Wadia Ghandy & Co., Maharashtra National Law University, Mumbai, Institute of Law, Nirma University, the National Institute of Mass Communication & Journalism, Grand Academic Portal, Geostrata, and Gitarth Ganga, we convened in a conclave to deliberate on the concept of Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam and explore pathways for the world to address challenges arising during its implementation.

POLITICAL THEME:

GLOBAL TRUST, MULTIPOLARITY, AND THE ROLE OF VISHWABANDHU BHARAT

After extensive deliberations, the gathering drew wisdom from Kautilya's Arthashastra, which emphasizes that "laabh vighna avishvaas"—the lack of trust—is the primary obstacle to any achievement. It was resolved that trust is fundamental to achieving a free, fair, just, stable, and secure world order. Examining the trajectory of global trust over the past century, it was acknowledged that the unipolar world structure lost the trust of the Global South, resulting in the rise of multipolarity and an escalating global trust deficit.

तस्माद् विश्वासयेद् राजा सर्वभूतान्यमायया सर्वतः परिक्षेच्च यो महीं भोक्तुमिच्छति ॥

This verse underscores two essential elements for a ruler aspiring to lead globally: trust and the capability to provide security to all.

Recognising the importance of trust in geopolitics and drawing wisdom from scriptures, it is acknowledged that:

- Bharat, leveraging its immense goodwill, must play a pivotal role in restoring global trust.
- Efforts must be made to combine ancient scriptural wisdom with a nuanced understanding of contemporary political trajectories to catalyze Bharat's emergence as Vishwabandhu (the universal well-wisher), an integral part of Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam.

We collectively agree to supporting this mission with the resources and means at our disposal to create a harmonious and secure world order.

This declaration embodies our shared vision for a just and interconnected world, guided by the ethos of Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam.

VASUDHAIVA KUTUMBAKAM KI OAR - 3.0

GITARTH GANGA DECLARATION

14TH - 15TH DECEMBER, 2024

LEGAL THEME:

SOVEREIGNTY, BASIC STRUCTURE DOCTRINE, AND SECULARISM

It is acknowledged that:

The ideal governance philosophy rejects the rigid Westphalian Nation-State model of absolute internal authority and confinement of external authority. Such frameworks breeds unaccountability, unanswerability, and immorality at both national and international levels. Therefore, for the effective governance of nations and the global order, sovereignty should be restrained both internally and externally, anchored in morality, and expanded only on the principles of morality and on account of security.

The concept of internal absolute sovereignty is already self-limited in many nations through codified constitutions. In countries where explicit limitations are absent, mechanisms like India's Basic Structure Doctrine—which safeguards the constitution's unamendable core principles—are serving as guiding examples.

Ancient Indian wisdom, particularly the hierarchical values embedded in traditional governance philosophies, should be explored to shape frameworks for modern governance. These values are:

- Sabhyata
- Nyay
- Niti
- Sadachar
- Sadgun
- Maryada
- Sanskriti
- Dharma
- Adhyatma

This declaration further acknowledges that secularism, as an integral part of the Basic Structure Doctrine, should be understood on the basis of two millennia of history involving the interplay between temporal and spiritual powers, along with the ancient wisdom from both Eastern and Western traditions on the separation of powers between State and religion.

In this context, secularism should be possibly defined to support the separation and mutual non-interference of temporal and spiritual domains. A truly secular state does not interfere in the religion, culture, or traditions of its citizens but ensures their equal and facilitating treatment, fostering an environment where all can freely prosper in the interest of humanity.

GITARTH GANGA DECLARATION

14TH - 15TH DECEMBER, 2024

We converge on the ideas that:

- Promote international jurisprudence rooted in the principles of Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam, prioritizing trust, morality, and justice.
- Leverage ancient wisdom to address modern challenges in both national governance and global relations.
- Support initiatives fostering global harmony, equity, and inclusivity.

This declaration embodies our shared vision for a just and interconnected world, guided by the ethos of Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam.

Support letters were signed by many esteemed panellists including:

Senior Advocate C Aryama Sundaram

Senior Advocate Vikramjeet Banerjee

DAY 1 | LEGAL

The legal theme, ‘Sovereignty, Basic Structure Doctrine, and Secularism’, focussed on the incisive questions sent to the panellists prior to the event. The questions shared were relevant to contemporary times and explored both national and international jurisprudence. The panel critically and objectively evaluated the current legal frameworks, emphasising that laws and jurisprudence must reflect the traditions, beliefs, and cultures of the people they serve.

LEGAL THEME | AGENDA QUESTIONS

What should be the defining factor in international law to accept a nation as sovereign:

External recognition by other states or existing internal de-jure sovereign elements?

What could be the consequences if external recognition is given primacy by disregarding a legitimate source of sovereignty?

If internal de-jure sovereign elements are accepted in international law, what could be those elements?

It is famously claimed by the UK parliament that they are absolutely sovereign. The pertinent question is should sovereignty be absolute or bound by laws, morals, etc.?

If absolute, why?

If limited, what should be the basic philosophy to limit sovereignty?

Out of the following two:

i. Sovereignty that is unbound by any external limitations imposed by international laws, has a right to freely grow and compete and has a system with natural checks and balances.

ii. Or nation-state sovereignty that is protected from outside competition by virtue of international law.

Which approach better serves humanity's long-term interests?

What specific features should qualify as unamendable under the Basic Structure Doctrine?

What jurisprudential guidelines should courts adopt to identify such features?

And can the guidelines underpinning the doctrine itself be subject to amendment?

LEGAL THEME | AGENDA QUESTIONS

How should the following apparent conflict of Basic Structure be resolved:

- i. Democracy - the basic feature of the constitution vs handicapping all the representatives of the people from coming together unanimously to amend such features.
- ii. In the absence of explicit textual limitations on the amending power within the Constitution, does the judiciary's creation of the Basic Structure Doctrine amount to judicial overreach violating the principle of the separation of powers—an established basic feature of the Constitution itself?

How can the perpetual binding nature of the Constituent Assembly's intentions (being the basis to decide the basic features of the Constitution protected by the doctrine) over future legislatures, disregarding the free will of future generations, be justified?

What exactly are the boundaries of secularism qua Indian jurisprudence?

Can a secular State be a facilitator for religions and accommodate all religions equally, or does such facilitation and accommodation erode the secularity of the State?

Should a secular State be completely indifferent to religions and insist on the absence of religion from public life or allow it to freely compete and prosper, thus supporting a civilisation's soft power?

Considering the legal maxim, "Derivativa potestas non potest esse major primitiva" (a derived power cannot exceed the source), from where exactly do current nation states derive their power to interfere into religions?

Does secularism connote two-way or one-way insulation between religion and the State?

Centre Seated: Spiritual Sovereign H. H. Yugbhushansuriji Maharaja

DAY 2 | GEOPOLITICAL

The theme of 'Global trust, multipolarity and the role of Vishwabandhu Bharat' continued the exploration of a new, free, fair, and just world order. With a focus on implementing ideas from previous conclaves, this edition addressed the challenge of declining global trust and its impact on shaping a multipolar world, while highlighting the key role Bharat (India) could play as Vishwabandhu, in this evolving order.

GEOPOLITICAL THEME | AGENDA QUESTIONS

- 1 Isn't global trust in geopolitics an oxymoron?
If not, what is the role of global trust in geopolitics?
- 2 What is the current trajectory of global trust and its impact on world orders?
- 3 What should be done for global trust such that it becomes a catalyst for a free, fair and just world order based on Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam?
- 4 Is the evolving multipolarity transient or here to stay for a long time?
- 5 Will the emerging multipolarity ensure a free, fair, just and peaceful world order, or will it lead the world into a new upheaval? What are the key factors for successful multipolarity?
- 6 What are the prerequisites for any type of polarity to lead to a free, fair and just world order?
- 7 What role can and should India play in this transition, especially for global trust?
- 8 What should India do to set a precedent for the role and responsibility of a regional pole?
- 9 What insights and guidance do ancient scriptures have for the theme and the way forward?

ESTEEMED GUEST OF HONOUR

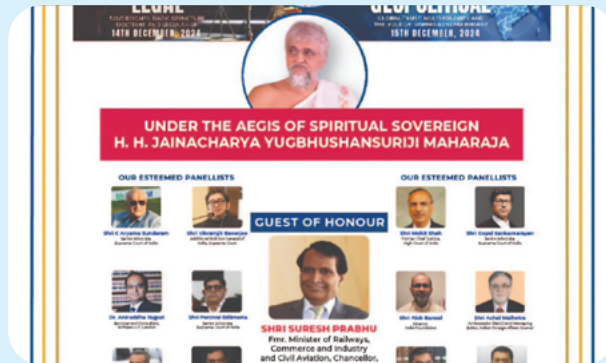

GUEST OF HONOUR

Shri Suresh Prabhu

Fmr. Union Minister
and G20 Sherpa

“ Had a divine and enriching experience while meeting the 79th successor of Bhagwan Mahavir Jainacharya Shri Yugbhushan Suri in Ahmedabad.”

“ His Holiness is so enlightened – He has a vision, he has a mission. He has a clear cut idea as to how the world could become a better place. For a peaceful co-existence we need interdependence and for that the whole world has to be one family, that is what Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam is all about. I am blessed by him as well and his blessings will help me in the goal towards making the world a better place.”

ESTEEMED PANELLISTS

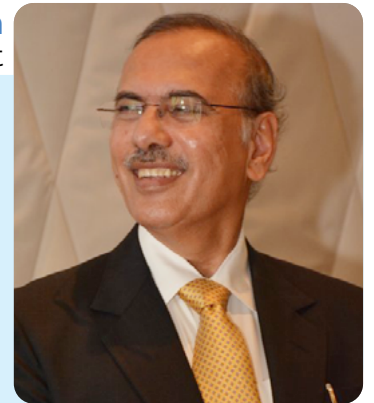

Justice M R Shah

Former Judge, Supreme Court of India

“The current state of the world reflects ongoing conflicts between communities and religions, highlighting the challenges we observe globally. The solution lies in embracing the principle of Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam—the belief, as taught by our scriptures that the world is one family.”

Justice Mohit Shah

Former Chief Justice, Bombay High Court

“The conclave was very well organised – visiting Githarth Ganga preserving our culture in digital format, going around the exhibition with so much research in a complex subject like Sovereignty, to which other spiritual organisations do not even give a thought, searching answers to questions on Sovereignty, Basic Structure of Constitution and Secularism made the discussions so interesting and lively.”

Shri Vikramjit Banerjee

Additional Solicitor General of India, Supreme Court

“The initiative to convene such a meaningful gathering, bringing together religious and national thought leaders to contemplate the future of India and the profound principle of Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam, is commendable and inspiring.”

Shri C Aryama Sundaram

Senior Advocate, Supreme Court of India

“It was a very very pleasant experience for me. I saw the depth of Jainacharya's learning of the modern concepts of law. I would never have attributed that he could have understood so clearly their pitfalls, the problems, the issues which had to be addressed and all from the starting point of Indian scriptures. In fact it made me think, that perhaps, I should start looking into those Indian scriptures more closely, to fully understand the legal firmament.”

ESTEEMED PANELLISTS

Shri Devadatt Kamat

Senior Advocate, Supreme Court of India

“It was my first interaction with a renowned scholar and a guru of Jainism, for that matter any other religious guru. Today the need of the hour is for religious gurus, to contribute not only as the spiritual head of their respective denominations, but as part of this composite culture in evolving a common platform, whether through legal means, constitutional means, political means, so that the country is united and we have an orderly and a peaceful society.”

Shri Percival Billimoria

Senior Advocate, Supreme Court of India

“It was a revelation—a wonderful merger of history, geopolitics, religion’s impact on governance, and the scriptures. I had thought about many of these concepts before, but they were loose concepts. For the first time, someone has integrated everything into a chronological timeline, showing how it evolved and differed from the scriptures.”

Amb. Yashvardhan Kumar Sinha

First Chief Information Commissioner, India and
Fmr. Indian High Commissioner to the UK

“It was a great privilege and pleasure to meet and interact with Pandit Maharaj Saheb and all those present... Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam encapsulates the wisdom of Indian thoughts through the millenia. It also points to the path to be adopted for global peace, harmony and amity.”

Shri Aniruddha Rajput

Barrister; Distinguished Professor, NLU Delhi

“The universe is one family, the world and nation is a part of it. All of it is moving, its speed and direction needs to be guided and governed by Bhartiya Shastras to achieve Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam.”

ESTEEMED PANELLISTS

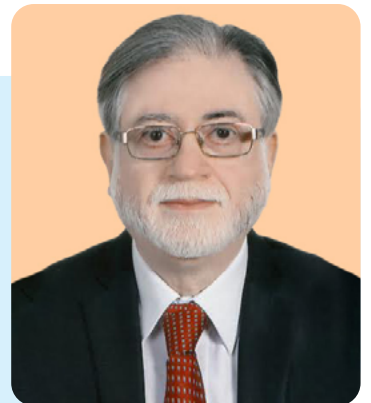

Capt. Alok Bansal

Director, India Foundation

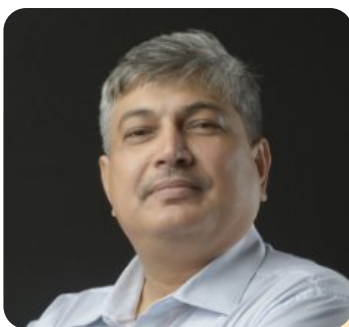

“Our ancient Indian scriptures and traditions actually have always believed in Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam. We have always considered the whole world as a family. And as a result we have always strived to help others when in crisis. One of the clearest examples was during Covid - when we gave vaccines to other countries while suffering from the pandemic ourselves. So going forward taking lessons from our scriptures and our moral values we will continue push the world towards Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam.”

Amb. Achal Malhotra

Ambassador (Retd.) and Managing Editor, Indian Foreign Affairs Journal

“Since this was my first exposure in the third episode of this series, I wasn't sure how spirituality and the values that we propagate can be gelled with hard topics, like geopolitics, which run on the basis of national interest, but after attending, I think that at the end of the day, values are also important, those values that we have cherished over centuries in India. It's possible to replicate them in the global geopolitics and the judicial system.”

Shri Rajiv Nayan

Sr. Research Associate, MP-IDSA, Sec. Gen. IAIS

“It was a wonderful interaction with Sahebji. Unforgettable and transcendental. A very well organised conclave. His sermons are really really very good. Everyone should know about his reactions on international events and many of the contemporary issues the world is facing, it could be really useful.”

Shri J R Bhatt

Distinguished Fellow, Vivekananda International Foundation

“At a time when faith and trust is declining globally, the entire world is looking towards India to restore this faith and trust worldwide. Why India? Because she is a repository of knowledge and wisdom.”

ESTEEMED PANELLISTS AND GUESTS

Shri Devang Nanavati

Senior Advocate, Gujarat High Court

“With regards to civility or Neeti all our laws have to have public order and morality and that is the touchstone which is part of the judicial review when the judiciary considers it.”

Shri Dhawal Mehta

Managing Partner, Wadia Ghandy & Co.

“I feel that the scriptures are words of wisdom written from ancient times. The relevance of that will always be there, whenever you read them, it is always going to be contemporary, that's the idea of scriptures. They are never outdated. They are always contemporary at whatever stage we read and how we see it in context. And today the evolving laws, the evolving societal needs, I feel scriptures still have all answers still lying in them and I feel it will help in evolving the legal path, the legislation, the policies for the nation ahead.”

Shri Saroj Bishoyi

Research Fellow, Vivekananda International Foundation

“The world is currently at the cusp of a new era, driven by technology. Technology is now shaping economic, political and defence. Obtaining tech sovereignty is critical for the nation, through our national missions.”

Shrimati Durapada Sapkota

Minister Counsellor (Political), Embassy of Nepal

“The conclave was wonderful and I got to learn so many things, from such distinguished panellists. I learnt about India's role and the current world order. And the most important thing is I got the opportunity to have get blessed by the Spiritual Sovereign. I was really impressed by all the work the volunteers have been doing.”

THE VISIONARY: POWERHOUSE OF KNOWLEDGE

STATE-RELIGION RELATIONSHIP A JAINACHARYA'S PERSPECTIVE

ARYA PARAMPARA AN EXHIBIT

The exhibition explored the merging of temporal and spiritual sovereignty, its impact on current global turmoil, and constitutional frameworks, with a focus on India's Basic Structure Doctrine. It examined Eastern and Western views of secularism, featuring insights from Jainacharya, highlighted the global trust deficit, depicted the journey of the world order from multipolarity in the past to the present-day rising multipolar world order, and proposed abolition of the UN Veto as an indicative solution to restore faith. The presentation concluded with scriptural wisdom and messages from His Holiness.

'India should lead to solve global turmoil'

Ahmedabad: The two-day conclave, 'Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam ki Oar', organised under the aegis of Jain Acharya Yugbhushansuri at Gitarth Ganga Upashray, concluded on Sunday with discussions on geopolitics, global trust, multipolarity and the role of India.

Acharya, in his speech, said, "Bharat of today, one of the most reliable and trustworthy countries, will have to take responsibility to solve the current complex turmoil with the support of the global community."

Alok Bansal, director of India Foundation, said that robust rules and regulations are required for a successful multipolar world and to maintain global stability. He stressed 'Michchami Dukkadam' or seeking forgiveness as a way to build a harmonious world.

Yashwardhan Kumar Sinha, former high commissioner of the UK, said that the diplomatic ethos of Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam has shaped India's approach to foreign policy. TNN

Conclave on Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam begins today

Ahmedabad: The third edition of 'Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam ni Oar' will take place in Paldi on Dec 14 and 15. The event, organised under the aegis of Jain Acharya Yugbhushansuri, will have two themes — legal and geopolitical — over two days, where dignitaries from across the country will participate.

Acharya told TOI that the legal theme will explore sovereignty, the basic structure doctrine and secularism, whereas the geopolitical theme will explore global trust, multipolarity and the role of India in the new world order.

"The platform is to discuss the tenets of Indian philosophy and its applications in contemporary times to find solutions to today's issues," he said.

Some of the participants this edition include Justice MR Shah, former judge of the Supreme Court of India; Vikramjit Banerjee, additional solicitor general of India; Ashok Bansal, director of India Foundation; and Achal Malhotra, retired ambassador. "The conclave aims to culminate in actionable policy recommendations," said an organiser. TNN
